

Dr. Angela Broeker

Angela Broeker is Director of Choral Activities at the University of St. Thomas where she conducts the Chamber Singers and Concert Choir and teaches undergraduate courses in choral conducting and choral methodology. She is active in the school's Graduate Programs in Music Education, teaching and supervising students pursuing a Master's Degree in Music Education with a Choral Concentration.

In addition to her university responsibilities, Dr. Broeker is a national clinician specializing in treble choirs. She presents for national, regional, and state conventions of the Music Educators National Conference, the American Choral Directors Association, the Organization of American Kodály Educators, and the American Orff-Schulwerk Association. Dr. Broeker serves as guest conductor for numerous honors choirs including all-state treble or children's choirs throughout the United States and regional/national honor choirs for OAKE and ACDA.

Dr. Broeker received her D.M.A. degree from the University of Oklahoma and her M.M. and B.M.E. degrees from Indiana University. Her research interests include seventeenth-century vocal music suitable for treble choirs and authentic, respectful performance of music from diverse cultures. She served as guest editor of the April 2006 Choral Journal and has written articles for the April 2009 and April 2006 Choral Journal, the July 2000 Music Educators Journal, the MENC Spotlight on Teaching Chorus, the spring 2008 Orff Echo as well as many local and regional music publications. She lives in St. Paul with her dog and her husband-composer, Jay.
